(From the New York Herald of June 17, 1899.) Mr. Perry Belmont, who sails this morning for Europe on the Campania, while speaking yesterday with political friends concerning imperialism as a probable issue in the next campaign for President, said: If such a severe test shall be made as a choice between abandoning the Constitution and abandoning the Philippines, Democrats will, in my opinion, let the Philippines go rather than the Constitution. But no such test is likely or necessary. If Congress is not to assemble before the usual time, there will not be national politics during the next six months for those outside the Administration circle. The management of our new islands, including taxation and expenditure, is now treated at Washington as purely an executive affair. The President should satisfactorily punish Aguinaldo and his followers for their assault early last..
